Carmel Unified School District Candidates Give Reasons For Seeking Election April 20

DR. FRIEDY B. HEISLER

"I am offering to serve, if elected, as a school board member because I am interested in:

(1) "Establishing full and free communication between administration, faculty and community to achieve programs, teaching practices and relationships providing the best opportunities for growth in the physical, mental and social spheres preparing students towards maturity.

(2) "Expansion of the counseling and guidance services for all children as dictated by existing needs, as a foundation for learning motivation.

(3) "To provide within a scientific frame of reference freedom to explore and experiment with new approaches as indicated by advanced knowledge.

(4) "Expansion of in-service training opportunities; planning for sabbatical leaves for qualifying and promising teachers.

(5) "Revise existing and explore

Councilman Gunnar Norberg, last night, presented to other councilmen a vision. It was the creation of a cultural-community center that would be a "masterpiece" — not conventional — but suited to the "quite extraordinary entity which is Carmel and the wide-ranging idea which it represents."

He said that the figurative foundation of such a center should be the "imprint which distinguished artists, writers, architects, doers of every kind," who have come to Carmel from all parts of the world to make their home, have left on their times and this city. These persons have left us a "great heritage," he pointed out, and this heritage can become the foundation of a "great tomorrow."

Mr. Norberg's words epitomize the vision of the voters who, a year ago this month, gave overwhelming approval to a $575,000 bond issue to purchase Sunset School for a municipal cultural and community center, also the

CLAYTON B. NEILL JR.

"Together with my family, I have lived in the Carmel area since 1940. Following attendance at both Sunset School and Carmel High School (Class of 1946), I obtained a degree in engineering from Stanford University and an M.B.A. from Stanford's graduate school of business. After Navy service in the Orient during the Korean War, I became associated in a consulting engineering firm and also in the business management of several water companies. With my wife and four children, I now reside in Carmel Valley. I was first elected to the board in 1961.

"I believe that it is important for Carmel to have and to improve the excellent school system that the community has taken pride in since the district was formed in 1939. The rapid increase in the availability of knowledge and the many complexities of our changing world dictate new approaches to our K-12 program. Not only must our district not be complacent

Carmelite Causes Postponement Of Sand Dune Sale

Drama was injected into the routine procedure of probate court last Friday in Salinas. Just as Judge Stanley Lawson was about to sign papers permitting the sale of Carmel dune property in the estate of the late Elizabeth McClung White to Dr. Edward Hamlin of Fresno for $225,000, another bid for $231,500 was offered by Jack Patterson of Carmel.

As Dr. Hamlin was not in court and it was thus impossible to find out if he wished to raise his bid for the property, the prospective sale was postponed until tomorrow by Judge Lawson.

City Attorney John Morse was in court last week to indicate the city's interest in acquiring the undeveloped 31,000 square feet of the White property adjacent to the dunes the city now owns.

The property in the White estate consists of five dwellings and one building site in addition to

"As president of the Carmel school board for two years and a member for four years, I have had a part in the forward strides being made in giving the best possible education to our students. Much remains to be done and I feel that my experience qualifies me to help effectively.

Stormy Council Session

There was stormy weather both inside and outside of city hall last night as the council considered adoption of the Sunset Committee's final report, also the Monterey Peninsula Area Plan. Despite the verbal blasts with which Councilman Gunnar Norberg buffeted the council, both the report and the plan received approval by 3-1 votes.

By the time the council adjourned at 1:15 o'clock this morning with a motion to reconvene again at 5 p.m. this afternoon, the city hall had stopped creaking and Mr. Norberg was in a more clement mood.

At this afternoon's adjourned meeting, the council will act on an ordinance establishing a commission to run and plan the future of Sunset School as a municipal cultural and community center.

Last night, by a 3-1 vote, the council approved an ordinance establishing a Sunset Commission but this vote was invalid. To pass an urgency ordinance which would go into effect immediately, a 4-1 vote was necessary. Councilman Stephen Grant, in Miami, Florida, last night, is expected home today. In a "position paper," read by the Mayor last night, Mr. Grant indicated his approval of the Sunset Committee report which proposed establishment of a Sunset Commission. If Mr. Grant votes this afternoon as he indicated last night, the necessary 4-1 vote to

Council To Oppose Humble Oil Refinery At Moss Landing

Last night, the city council directed the city attorney to prepare a resolution stating that the city opposes the granting of a use permit to the Humble Oil Company for a refinery at Moss Landing. This resolution will be forwarded to the Monterey County Planning Commission following council action at a later meeting. The resolution will also ask that an effective code as possible to control air pollutants be passed by the county.

This action came following a request from Howard Murphy, a Carmel resident and international authority on air pollution, that the city oppose the refinery.

The council also accepted clarification of the mutual aid fire protection agreement between the city and the State Division of Forestry. The Carmel fire department will only respond to calls outside the city when the state's Carmel Hill fire station requests aid in fighting fires in theatres, schools or hospitals within a five-mile radius of the station, also to requests to help control forest fires within a ten-mile radius. Response to any structural fire outside the city limits will rest on the discretion of the fire chief who will decide whether or not such a fire threatens the city.

Unanimous approval was given to a recommendation, included in a previous lands and improvements committee report on municipal facilities, that the city hall daughter, Peggy, was graduated from Carmel High School in 1962 and my son, Gary, is now in the ninth grade. During the 13 years I have lived on the Peninsula I have been professor of mechanical engineering at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School. As chairman of the department I have had the responsibility for recruiting new faculty members, preparing budgets, and planning and equipping extensive laboratory facilities.

"The district is working hard to tailor instruction to the needs of the students. At the high school, class periods have been adjusted to fit the instruction through flexible scheduling. We have just dedicated a new building making possible more effective and extensive use of team teaching methods. Plans are currently being developed for a vitally needed new library.

"Last year reading and mathematics instruction was reorganized at Sunset School with grade-wide grouping in both subjects according to the student's current achievement level. For example, instead of students less advanced in arithmetic being overwhelmed by arithmetically advanced classmates, they are grouped for this subject so that they have special attention at their level. The other math groups proceed at their own pace and children change groups as their progress indicates. Many students are able to advance rapidly without academic anxiety. The key to success here is that all instruction is at the level currently needed by the individual.

"Another forward step is the development of a coordinated science program at the junior high level which encompasses both physical and biological science and includes basic laboratory inquiry. This will be extended to the fifth and sixth grades next fall. The coming science-centered summer school program and accompanying teacher workshop will be a major first step in developing a science program for the early grades.

"At the primary level much effort is being devoted to the improvement of mathematics and reading instruction. New techniques have been introduced. Teachers are visiting other schools and are taking both district-sponsored courses and college work in these areas.

"Three years ago the board adopted a general policy statement which clearly defines our basic philosophy. It states, in part, 'The prime purpose of the Carmel Unified School District is to develop as fully as possible the intellectual faculties of each pupil, and prepare him for a contributing part in our society... the public schools are not primarily responsible for those aspects of child growth and training traditionally assigned to the home, church, and the community.'

"Many steps have been taken in implementing this policy. A steadily increasing fraction of our budget has been allotted to direct instructional expenses, including teachers' salaries, supplementary texts, and library books. Norms for class size have been formally established. A district homework policy has been adopted.

"We have twice raised teaching salaries in the past three years, but we are still not in a favorable competitive position. We must do better. Qualified, effective, dedicated teachers are the keystone of our schools.

"I earnestly solicit the support of all who share my aspirations for the education of our youth."

Dr. Newton's daughter, Peggy, is a junior at Pomona College and, in cooperation with the college and the Experiment in International Living program, is now studying for a semester in England. His wife, Dorothy, has served as chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Red Cross and as president of the League of Women Voters.

Dr. Newton was born in St. Louis, Missouri. He obtained both B.S. and M.S. degrees in mechanical engineering at Washington University in St. Louis and a Ph.D. degree from the University of Michigan. He joined the faculty of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School when it was located in Annapolis. Prior to this, Dr. Newton was on the faculty of Washington University.

The year before being elected to the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education, Dr. Newton was president of the Carmel High School PTA unit.

Study Freud or Henry Miller,
Or have lunch with Phyllis Diller,
But a woman's an enigma, and she Knows it.

If you try to reason with her,
She will have you in a dither;
If it's cold she says it's hot and

She likes swimming, but hates water,
So you wonder why you brought her
To the seaside (perhaps to lastingly Submerge her).

Though you know these things about

Sherman Wu is shown above with the prizewinning kite he created for the 35th annual Carmel Kite Festival held on Saturday at the junior high school. Sherman won his award in the best workmanship class for children eight years old and younger. Jenie Conlon won an award in this class, too. Other winners in the youngest division were Michael Brock and Peter Bennett, high flying kite; Karen McCurry and Alex Wilsdon, prettiest kite.

Winners in the nine to 12 years old division were Patty Bruce, high flying; Henry Wythe, best workmanship; Lynn Vandervort, prettiest.

Awards in the 13-15 years division went to Tom Aldrich, high flying; David August, best workmanship; Mary Fries, prettiest.

Adults who were awarded prizes were Ron Berry, high flying; Donald Brown, best workmanship; Molly Nickell, prettiest.

The Reverend Willis White memorial prize for the kite with the best international design was given to Becky Brock.

The Ernest Calley memorial prize for the champion kite entered in the contest was awarded to Bill Schreiber.

David August won the best kite in the festival prize.

Milton Bank's kite was judged the most unusual kite entered in this year's festival sponsored by the Carmel Unified School District and the Carmel Lions Club.

Building Inspector Richard Thomas was given permission to update Carmel's building and plumbing codes. This action will allow new construction materials to be used but in no way change existing restrictions peculiar to Carmel. The updating will also control the height of TV and FM radio receiving aerials and provide stringent restrictions for gas appliances in garages.

A simplification in the procedure for sanitary district inspections, performed by the city, was approved. (The sanitary district approved the new arrangements the night before.)

Councilman Gunnar Norberg cast the only vote against a resolution thanking the Secretary of the Army for reopening recruit training at Fort Ord. Resolutions opposing extension of the Brown Act to make committee meetings open to the public, also Assembly Bills to require candidates for city office to state their political party affiliation on ballots, were passed and copies of the resolu-

Arts Commission Makes Bid To Run Cultural Center

Last Friday, arts commissioners protested formation of a Sunset Commission. Instead of a new commission, arts commissioners wanted their powers extended to include the authority to establish rents and schedule events at Sunset School after it becomes city property on July 1.

These decisions were reached during a special meeting called by Chairman Barbara Norberg. Another decision was to ask the council to increase the membership of the arts commission from seven to 11 members with a majority of the added membership selected from the electorate of the city.

The above decisions were included in the report which the city council received last night. The report also stated that the arts commission was established in 1959 "for purposes which encompass any possible cultural use and/or development of the Sunset property. Any second commission empowered specifically for the development of any one aspect of Carmel artistic development is redundant."

However, the council did not agree with the redundancy of establishing a commission to run Sunset and will meet at 5 p.m. this afternoon to pass an urgency ordinance which will immediately activate a Sunset Commission.

The arts commission believes the development and use of the Sunset area should be "primarily for the pleasure and edification of Carmel residents and their friends, rather than as a tourist attraction," the report continued. However recognition was given to the fact "that real artistic achievement housed in the beautiful Sunset plant, will, as it always has, draw a number of visitors who are interested in artistic endeavors."

The arts commission's hope, according to the report, was that Sunset School, when a municipal cultural and community center, would "partially restore the appeal to authentic artistically talented people who are seeking a quiet and congenial place to work."

The report added that the arts commission has been contemplating expanding its administrative functions because of the acquisition of Sunset by the city.

The report concluded with three statements about planned activities of the arts commission. These included:

(1) A variety of events for the coming summer's Forest Theater Sunday afternoon programs including symphony and ballet presentations and a play, at night, by the Community Theatre.

(2) Steps to organize suitable cultural events to commemorate the golden anniversary of the city in 1966.

(3) Issuance, subject to city council approval, of an arts commission car stamp to be sold to raise money for cultural purposes.

Lastly the report asked the council "to note that the city has received more actual dedication of time and effort by each unpaid arts commissioner in presenting the summer Sunday afternoon programs in the Forest Theater than it has usually received from any unpaid civic functionary."

THE PIONEERS OF CARMEL

In November of 1938 The Pioneers of Carmel "who came before the so-called oldtimers" met at Pine Inn with plans to form an organization. Each person present gave the year in which they had first come to Carmel to prove they were qualified to attend. Fred Bechdolt was chairman. Argyll Campbell was put in charge of arranging another meeting. W. L. Overstreet was made secretary.

Before coming to this country, Miss Dessalyn served as secretary to Dr. Linden Leavitt while he was at Haile Selassie II University in Addis Ababa.

Candidate Ralph Atkinson Seeks Seat On MPC Board

In less than three weeks, voters of the Monterey Peninsula will go to the polls to elect two out of five candidates for the Monterey Peninsula College Board of Trustees. Actively campaigning for one of the vacant seats on the board is Ralph B. Atkinson who lives down the coast at Bixby Landing.

As a prospective member of the MPC board, Mr. Atkinson gives his personal aims for the college and the community in the following statements.

"In offering myself as a candidate for the MPC board, I would hope that my experience in educational, scientific and business affairs would be of use to the college and the community.

"In serving the board, I would try to emphasize whatever in my judgment would promote the best educational values of all students—for those who need training for specific tasks, for those who want to go on to further academic work, and above all for those who wish to enrich their own lives.

"If these purposes are achieved, I believe that the community, which gives the college its moral and financial support, will receive ample reward."

In 1959, Mr. Atkinson and his wife, Dorothy, who is a Smith College graduate, moved permanently into the house which they built in 1957 on the former Sharpe property at Bixby Landing. Since that time Mr. Atkinson has been active in the community affairs of the downcoast region. He helped organize and is now president of the Coast Property Owners Association. During his association with this group he worked on, and supported, the Coast Master Plan.

Mr. Atkinson has been a member of the Highlands-Bixby Creek advisory committee to the county planning commission for five years and now is president of this committee.

In 1956, Ralph Atkinson bought his Bixby Landing property. At that time he was associated with Atkinson Laboratory, Inc. of Los Angeles, a photographic chemistry firm which he founded. He now has a laboratory on Cannery Row where he does scientific research in photographic chemistry. To date, he is the holder of 22 patents in this field. He also is president of Ferropoint Corporation, a holding corporation established in connection with the patents on his inventions.

Ralph Atkinson was born in Georgetown, Massachusetts. After graduating (cum laude) from Phillips Academy in Andover, Massachusetts, he entered Massachusetts Institute of Technology and obtained an M.S. degree and was licensed as a chemical engineer.

His association with M.I.T. did not end with graduation, however. He has served his college as chairman of the M.I.T. scholarship committee and on the visiting committee of the M.I.T. department of physics. He was granted a master's degree from the California Institute of Technology and was associated for many years with Eastman Kodak Company.

His three sons are all college graduates. Henry has a degree from Occidental College and is now in business in Los Angeles. Hiland graduated from the Univ. ersity of Vermont before becoming associated with Pan-American airlines. His son, Walter, following graduation from the University of Virginia, is pursuing scientific research at the same institution.

John Boit Morse, chairman of the committee to elect Mr. Atkinson to the MPC board says,

"Ralph Atkinson has more than ample understanding of college level students, their needs and their problems, as well as the manpower technician needs of our community in the years just ahead."

Mr. Morse also emphasizes that Mr. Atkinson is "above all, a bus-

Everett Marshall

Everett Robert Marshall, 64, baritone of grand and light opera and of the concert stage, died in a local hospital Saturday after a brief illness. With his wife and only survivor, Louise, he had made his home in Carmel for the past five years. He was native of Lawrence, Massachusetts.

A leading baritone with the Metropolitan Opera for four years, Mr. Marshall was also known for his starring performances in Broadway musicals, motion pictures and radio programs, as well as concert appearances in the principal cities of the country. He attended the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, later studied in England and Europe.

Rosary and prayers for Mr. Marshall were recited Tuesday evening at Carmel Mission Basilica. Funeral services were held yesterday morning at the Mission, where a Requiem Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul. Burial followed at the Monterey Catholic Cemetery in Monterey.

The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

ness man who knows the importance of excellence in education."

Those who are candidates for the MPC board, in addition to Ralph Atkinson, are Dr. Grant Vartabedian of Pebble Beach and Dr. Joseph Noto of Carmel, both of whom practice dentistry in Monterey, also Edward V. Mitchell of Monterey and Sherman W. Smith of Seaside.

Feg Murrays At Hot Springs

Mr. and Mrs. Feg Murray spent last week at Warner Hot Springs Guest Ranch to visit with Mr. Murray's sister, Mrs. Dana Burks, whose home is nearby. The ranch, located on the edge of the desert beneath the towering mountains of eastern San Diego county, has marvelous hot springs. Mrs. Murray reports. Convinced that bathing in the hot mineral-water pools must be good for one, the Murrays braved the "fragrance" and found to their delight that it was wonderfully relaxing.

Christian Women's Club

Miss Leora Heim will be the guest speaker at the monthly luncheon of the Monterey County Christian Women's Club at Hyatt House, Salinas, on Tuesday at 12:15 p.m. Miss Heim, a former entertainer in light opera and other fields, turned from her career to dedicate her life to helping others and to teaching women's Bible study classes over a wide area.

Among other events on the program will be selections of sacred Easter songs by Mrs. Gene Leonard and a display of hairpieces by Pierre, wigmaker.

Reservations should be made no later than 10 a.m. Monday by calling Mrs. Arturo Valles (372-9095) or Mrs. Floyd Kimball (372-0247).

Trio Returns From Vallarta

Miss Portia Mansfield, Miss Charlotte Perry and Miss Helen Smith returned last week from a visit to the Mexican port of Puerto Vallarta, where they spent a week as guests of a friend whose house overlooks the lovely bay. During their brief vacation they traveled by boat to Boca de Mis-maloya, scene of the filming of The Night of the Iguana, and to the north side of the bay for pic-nics at isolated beaches.

Miss Mansfield and Miss Perry are directors of the Perry-Mansfield School of Theatre and Dance and Camps at Steamboat Springs, Colorado. Both are well known here, having had an active part in the theatre and dance arts in the community for many years.

Mr. Sieve Actively Retired

A frenzy of activity in house and garden is the most noticeable result of the retirement of Frank J. Sieve, who was recently honored by his fellow workers at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School upon his retirement after more than 13 years there as a master joiner. In addition to a special cake and a clock radio from his co-workers, Mr. Sieve received a plaque of appreciation from the Civilian Employees Recreation and Welfare Club, which was presented to him by Lieutenant M. W. Mathewson.

Mrs. Sieve says that her husband has pruned, transplanted and fertilized every "bloomin'" thing in their garden, not to mention adding a balcony to the house which he built substantially by himself. A man who obviously loves his work, Mr. Sieve is also adding all kinds of beautiful "extras" to the interior of their home.

Dr. Boggess vs. Speech Mediocrity

U.S. Naval Postgraduate School professor William C. Boggess will address the Western Speech Association convention this week in Boulder, Colorado, on the subject of "Teaching Speech to Mature People," in this instance, officer students of the school. Dr. Boggess states that the school is "waging limited war on speech mediocrity."

Professor Boggess previously served on the faculties of Los Angeles City College and Monterey Peninsula College. He resides with his wife, Louise, and two children in Rancho Mar Monte.

Susan Osborne Tells Plans

Susan Osborne and Kenneth C. Schley, whose engagement was announced during the Christmas season, will be married at All Saints' Episcopal Church on June 19. A reception for the young couple will be held at the Pebble Beach home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, whose 22nd wedding anniversary coincides with the date chosen by Susan for her marriage.

Susan's matron of honor will be Mrs. Riley Wilson, the former Jan Carpenter. Her sister, Polly Osborne, will be a bridesmaid, as will Sally Leonard, Susan Kay and Carolyn Katurakat, a Stanford classmate.

Honor Mr. Brook

Walter D. Brook, a native of Vienna, Austria, who came to the United States in 1937, recently received a badge of merit from the Austrian government for his athletic prowess and coaching during many years of European and international competition in hockey. Mr. Brook played "defense" for Austria's crack hockey team in three different Olympic Games. The award is comparable to the United States' hall-of-fame honors to outstanding athletes.

Though Mr. Brook says his hockey days were so long ago he can scarcely remember, it's hard to believe because he's still a very live and active member of the Carmel Seniors' Club.

On His Way Up

Kathy Goodrich's Norwegian Elkhound, Vickessen, won his first point in competition at the Oakland Dog Show on March 27. Vickessen won in his class, entitling him to compete against other class winners in the Winners Dog category. His proud owner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Goodrich, raised her dog from a puppy, trained him with the help of his breeder, Carmel Junior High teacher Pat Vincent, and is earning the money for his purchase by baby-sitting jobs.

Rollo Paynes in Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. Rollo H. Payne plan to return this week from Los Angeles, where they attended the funeral of T. E. Nash, Mrs. Payne's father.

Mr. Nash, a retired banker from Minnesota, died Sunday after a long illness. Mrs. Nash, his widow, is a Glendale resident.

Carmel Foundation Programs

"Eastern Europe" will be the subject of the Great Decisions program at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Sunday at 2 p.m.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, a musical program will be presented at the Town House by a trio composed of Mrs. Helen Shutes, viola, Mary Dobel, cello, and Camille Olaeta, piano. They will play the Trio in A Minor, opus 114, by Brahms.

Tea will be served after each program, and all interested persons are welcome.

The public is also invited to view paintings by pupils of John Cunningham, which have been loaned by the Carmel Art Institute for exhibit during the month of April.

L'Alliance Francaise Tea

The April conversation-tea of L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula was held yesterday in Carmel at the home of Mrs. Jerome Carlson, L'Alliance president.

There will be no tea in May as this is the month for the scholarship awarding event of the organization. The scholarship program, started four years ago by Mrs. Carlson, will be extended this year to Monterey Peninsula College. Previously, L'Alliance Francaise scholarships for excellence in French were awarded only to high school students.

Art News

Brett Weston left here Monday for Mexico City where he has been invited to exhibit his photographic prints at the Instituto. Photographs taken by his father, the late Edward Weston, will also be shown. These will be mostly portraits of important personalities in the Mexican art renaissance during the 1920s, such as Diego Rivera. The pictures were taken by Edward Weston during the period he was living in Mexico. His son, Brett was in his early teens at this time.

The Weston show has been arranged by the cultural department of the U.S. Embassy in Mexico. At the preview on April 20, a U.S. State Department film on the work of Edward Weston will be shown. Guests invited to the preview will include the Honorable Tony Freeman, U.S. Ambassador to Mexico, who has a home in Rancho Rio Vista, also Mexican government officials and noted persons in the fields of art and literature in Mexico.

Brett Weston traveled south in a camper with Jerome Carlson of Carmel. They plan to make several stops on the way to the Mexican capital.

Last Saturday, 18 members of the Businessmen's Art Institute of Los Angeles arrived to study for a week with Bennett Bradbury of Carmel Highlands. Here as a guest of the group, is Walter Bailey, who writes about art for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner.

The Businessmen's Art Institute is 35 years old and maintains its own gallery. Members are all businessmen who have an interest in art.

Eldon Dedini, Dick Brickner, Gus Arriola and Golden Whitman will select three winners in the poster art contest sponsored by the Visitors and Convention Bureau of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. Local artists, only, are asked to compete. They may be professionals, amateurs or students. Cash awards of $300, $150 and $50 will be awarded. Winning entries will be used to illustrate the promotional activities of the bureau and will be distributed world-wide as travel posters. All submissions must be original art in full color but may be in any medium. Deadline for entries is April 15. Further information may be obtained from the chamber office 353 Camino El Estero, Monterey.

Andrea Sparks, a Peninsula artist, has one of her paintings in the Northern California Phelan Awards Art Exhibition at the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco. The show opened on Saturday and will continue through May 2.

Russell Brown of Carmel has been awarded a first place ribbon for the wool coating fabric he entered in the eighth juried Contemporary Handweavers of California exhibit at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco. Forty-three artist-craftsmen are represented in this show which opened Tuesday and will close on May 2.

A one-man show of 15 oils and water colors by Helen Dooley will be featured during the April exhibit, opening today, at the Carmel Art Association Gallery. The painter has been a professor of art for many years at the College of the Pacific in Stockton and is painting in Carmel while on a two-year leave of absence. The collection represents recent works inspired by scenes of this area, including landscapes, seascapes, dunes, hills and boats in a variety of techniques, both abstract and realistic.

Also on display at the association's gallery through May 6 is a new exhibit by artist members assembled by the hanging committee under the direction of Barbara Horder West.

Carmel High School Has Lecture Hall For Team Teaching

Parents of eighth grade students in the Carmel Unified School District were the first persons to use the new large group teaching facility which was opened at Carmel High School on Monday afternoon. That evening, fathers and mothers of boys and girls who will enter high school next year met in the new facility for a briefing on what lies ahead in their children's high school years.

At 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon, the facility which consists of a 200-seat lecture hall and one classroom which may be divided into four smaller rooms, also two classrooms which may be divided into two smaller rooms, was opened in brief ceremonies attended by members of the board of education, the district's administrative staff, teachers and other interested persons.

High School Principal Warren Edwards greeted the group seated in the tiers of individual swivel chairs behind long white formica counter-like desks in the lecture hall, the floor of which is covered with gold carpeting.

Dr. Robert E. Newton, chairman of the board of education, said the new facility is the result of a visit Mr. Edwards made to the East Coast in 1961. He returned full of enthusiasm for a large group teaching facility he had seen in Massachusetts. His enthusiasm won the support of the board. Four years later Carmel High School now has a similar facility.

The new $190,000 building, Dr. Newton explained, was made possible from funds received ($550,000) from the sale of Sunset School to the City of Carmel. It, also, is a step in the board's plans for instruction "better tailored to the individual needs of the students," Dr. Newton indicated. He added that "a new adequate library" for the high school is a prime need now being considered (Continued on Page B)

If you haven't figured out your income tax yet, do it. You may owe more than you think. But don't blame yourself. This year is different—because of adjustments in the withholding rates. And if it turns out that you do owe more than you expected (most people will), just get a personal loan from any Wells Fargo Bank. It's easy to arrange, easy to repay. And a great way to take the worry out of any other tax problems that crop up in April. Come on in. We'll be glad to help.

new recreational, sport and social activities, conducive to good personality development.

(6) "Evaluate salary schedules to assure the district of ability to return as well as attract good new teaching personnel."

Dr. Heisler was born in Switzerland and became a naturalized citizen of the United States in 1929. After completing undergraduate work in her native country, she obtained a B.S. degree from the University of Illinois and an M.D. degree from the same university. She interned at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago for two years, then was a resident in psychiatry at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute of the University of Illinois and Elgin State Hospital.

Following this, Dr. Heisler was an assistant in the department of psychiatry at the University of Illinois Medical School, also associated attending physician. Next in her career she was psychiatrist with the Chicago Community Clinic, associated with the Juvenile Research Institute, psychiatrist consultant for United Charities, Family Service, Jewish Family Service and the Veterans Rehabilitation Center in Chicago before coming to be a practicing psychiatrist in Carmel.

Since coming here, Dr. Heisler has been a consultant for Carmel and neighboring school districts. She is a former president of the Monterey County Mental Health Society and vice president of the Mental Health Society of Northern California.

In the teaching field, Dr. Heisler has been an instructor in the education department of the University of California extension program and taken part in workshops, also as lecturer with the California Secondary School Administrators Association.

She is a member of the American and California medical associations, American Psychiatric and Northern California psychiatric societies and the World Mental Health Association.

She and her husband, Francis Heisler, an attorney with offices in Carmel, have been married for 45 years. They have one son, Dr. Ivan Heisler, a psychoanalyst in San Francisco, and two grandchildren.

In a letter which will be sent to the voters, the committee working for Dr. Heisler's election to the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education says,

"With a high rate of juvenile delinquency and emotional disorders among our young people, these are times when education requires the concern of our most highly skilled and able citizens.

"It is also a time of experimentation in education, much of which is excellent, some of which requires wisdom and judgment in order not to operate to the detriment of our children.

"Dr. Friedy B. Heisler has offered to run for the school board of the Carmel Unified School District. Dr. Heisler is a dedicated physician and a person of wisdom and judgment. She has a long record of intelligent concern for the welfare of children."

EASTER VACATION

Schools in the Carmel Unified School District close tomorrow afternoon for the Easter holiday. Classes will be resumed on April 18.

Monterey Peninsula College will be closed April 12-18. No classes or community events will be held at the college during this period.

Ragtime Concert
At Sunset School
Monday Evening

"Ragtime" is the name Dave Tobiasen of Carmel has given to the twin-piano program which he and Gary Ryan will present at Sunset School auditorium on Monday at 8 p.m.

Dave's popular ragtime music is known to hundreds of his contemporaries through performances at Carmel High School, Monterey Peninsula College and the Carmel Youth Center Follies. He is now employed as a musician at a popular Cannery Row restaurant and night club as is, also, his partner in the concert at Sunset next week.

In addition to their ragtime piano duets, Dave will play the tuba and Gary the banjo in some numbers. Dave Bennett will be master of ceremonies for "Ragtime" which will be recorded and appear on records later this Spring.

Tickets ($1.75) may be purchased at California Music House or at the door of the auditorium on Monday night.

Carmel High School
Has Lecture Hall
For Team Teaching

by the board.

Tom Hudson Jr., president of the Carmel High School student body, thanked the board for the new building, which he dubbed "Facility X." It was a fine replacement, he said, for "The Brown Barn" where team teaching has been going on at the high school. This "barn" to accommodate 75 students was created by making two classrooms into one.

The new large group teaching auditorium has an area of 3,800 square feet. It is north of the divisible classroom wing which is separated from the auditorium by two small patios.

Storage cabinets for audio-visual aids are built into the walls of the auditorium and back of it are teaching preparation rooms and other storage areas. Total area of the new addition is 8,600 square feet. The facility was designed by the Carmel architectural firm of Elston and Cranston, AIA. Mr. Elston was present at Monday's opening ceremony.

The lecture hall will be used for the team teaching of physics, history, civics and world geography as well as biology and chemistry lectures for combined classes.

Clayton B. Neill, Jr.

cent, it must promote proven new curricula and new teaching methods in educating youngsters.

"The board has to express both the educational wishes of the community and to insure that business operations are efficient and necessary. Carmel has a $2.1 million annual budget, a one teacher to 25 pupils ratio, and at $2.57 per $100 assessed valuation, one of the lower tax rates in Monterey County. Board members work an average of 6-8 hours each week on school affairs, and no board member has missed a meeting in over four years, except when out of town.

"Despite the varied background of the five board members, the board has worked as a team in recent years to improve the school system. More teachers with previous teaching experience and better qualifications are being employed. Emphasis has been placed on sound reading programs at the elementary level. Grouping by achievement in reading and mathematics for Sunset School fifth and sixth graders has proven successful. An outstanding superintendent was hired, who in addition to being the leader in educational improvements, has in two years sharply reduced administrative expenses and certain budget items. School plant expenses will be reduced in the future by the consolidation of classrooms at the new intermediate school and high school because of the sale of Sunset School. Facilities for team teaching at the high school are being completed this week. The board has worked hard to promote these and other staff-originated improvements—and it has made a few mistakes, too.

"Future years will require that education does not become 'de-individualized,' what with the problems of population growth, automation and high taxes. We still must treat children as individuals while at the same time providing for varied mental and physical abilities, different educational goals and motivations, expanded cultural and leisure-time activities, new demands in science and math, and developments in encouraging imagination, creative thinking and inquiry. In addition, Carmel, forced into a peninsula-wide or county-wide district in the name of economy, would not only lose its individual choices, but as part of a very large system the distance between parent/taxpayer wishes and true school policy would become hopelessly distant.

"To meet these interesting challenges may require supernatural powers. I do not have these powers, but I will try, if elected."

Mr. Neill is affiliated with his father in the firm of Neill Engineers. He and his wife, Kathleen, live in Carmel Valley and have four children. They are Kathy, who is nine years old and in the fourth grade at Tularcitos School; Kimmie, five; Clayton III, three; and Kerry, one year old.

Cub Scout Awards

At the March 17 meeting of Carmel Cub Scout Pack 48, the following proud cubs received awards. In Den One, Mike Wallace, wolf badge; John O'Shea, wolf badge, silver and gold arrows; Jim Maillett, gold arrow and lion book; Chris Hrusa, bear badge, gold arrow and three silver arrows.

In Den Two, Rick Hopelain, silver arrow and lion badge; Bolton Colburn, gold arrow; John Cherry, one-year pin and lion book.

In Den Three, Greg Ambrosia, silver arrow and lion badge; Stan Canham, lion badge; John Cridle, silver arrow and a dinner stripe; Bill Whitesides, assistant dinner stripe.

In Den Five, Richard Monroe, lion badge; David Wiesenfeld, lion badge; James Monroe, dinner stripe; Francis Toldi, assistant dinner stripe.

In Den Six, Buzz Cole, bear badge and gold arrow.

New cub scouts initiated at the meeting were Andrew Wiesenfeld, Jeffrey Ingalls and Reed Barton.

Hospital Officials Elected

Mrs. Wesley R. Heard of Monterey and Rear Admiral Elmer E. Yeomans (USN Ret.) of Pebble Beach have been elected to the board of trustees of Community Hospital. Re-elected trustees at the annual membership meeting were Dr. A. Carol McKenney, Mrs. F. G. Cruickshank and Mrs. Samuel F.B. Morse.

At the trustees' meeting, following the general membership meeting, Vernon F. Hurd was re-elected president of the board. Charles E. Simpson and Mrs. Morse were re-elected vice presidents; Cortlandt T. Hill, secretary; and Dr. McKenney, treasurer.

Detroit On The Go

Mr. and Mrs. Lance Detroit, who returned recently from the Hawaiian Islands, are in the area after 14 months abroad, to visit friends and to pick up their mobile home before heading for Palm Springs. They plan to stay in the desert resort until the weather warms up around the Minnesota lakes region, where they make their summer headquarters. After traveling in Europe last year, the Detroites decided to set forth for Honolulu via the Orient, thus stretching their voyage nearly around the world in a direction opposite to that usually taken by those with Hawaii as their destination.

Concours Ticket Sellers

Ticket sellers for the 15th Annual Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance are Community Hospital Auxiliary members Mrs. Douglas Beattie, Mrs. Arthur E. Benoit, Mrs. William A. Bruchs, Mrs. Harry G. Padgham, Mrs. Frederic E. Rainier, Mrs. Walter W. Reams, Mrs. Robert Robertson.

Also, Mrs. James M. Rodda, Mrs. Virginia Rose, Mrs. Francis J. Sparolini, Mrs. Robert D. Steinmetz, Mrs. Frank K. Sullivan, Mrs. Albert L. Taix, Mrs. James Vanlandingham, Mrs. Kenneth S. Walker, Mrs. Edward H. Wedlake, Mrs. Elmer E. Yeomans, Mrs. Robert Mackay Brown, Mrs. William P. Byrnes, Mrs. Charles E. French, Mrs. Rody B. Holt, Mrs. A. Carol McKenney, Mrs. Reuben T. Pearson, Mrs. Arthur B. Ramsey, Mrs. Luke S. Shields, Mrs. Charles E. Simpson, Mrs. Ralph W. Thompson, Miss Dorothy Hodson, Miss Leora J. Kiler, Miss Joan Peacock.

Beneficiary of proceeds from the sale of tickets, at $1 each, is the Community Hospital Auxiliary, which plans to purchase an x-ray image-amplifier needed by the hospital. Mrs. Robert Mackay Brown is chairman of the advance ticket sale committee.

Calders Fly Polar Route

Mr. and Mrs. John Calder, who left Carmel on March 26 to visit friends in Los Angeles prior to starting an extended European tour, flew the polar route to Copenhagen. After a brief visit in Sweden, they traveled to London and will recross the Channel to look up friends in Munich before going on to Athens. From Athens they will take a boat to the island of Mykonos, where they will be guests of Harlan and Louise Watkins, former Peninsula residents, and will later take a house for several weeks. The Watkinses, who now make their home on Mykonos, have arranged trips to some of the other islands in the area and to the coast of Yugoslavia.

Spain and Portugal, Cairo and Port Said are also on the itinerary of John and Evelyn, and they will return to London before winding up their tour in Scotland, John's birthplace. They expect to be back in Carmel sometime in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Berkoben (Edith Dinkin) are occupying the Calders' home in their absence.

Over The Bounding Delta

On Saturday, Jack Geisen will take the helm of a luxurious 37-foot houseboat at Stockton for a week's cruise of the delta waterways, spoken of as "gunkholing" by the salty set. His crew consists of his wife, Micheline, and Bob and Lilli Smith, who are hopefully looking forward to sun-drenched days in quiet harbors. Bob secretly expects the San Joaquin to be in flood, with little icebergs bobbing along the crest.

The skipper reports that the lady at the agency from which they are renting the houseboat paled when he mentioned, in the way of his qualifications, that he had piloted airplanes. Seems she is firmly convinced that fliers make the worst of river pilots. Fortunately, Jack is also a sailor and navigator and capable of holding a course to avoid such obstacles as mud banks, drawbridges and hot-rod power boats.

Visitor From River Forest

Philip Edmunds, Jr., of River Forest, Illinois, was a recent guest at the Carmel Point home of his father and sister, Philip Edmunds, Sr. and Miss Anne Edmunds. Mr. Edmunds' other son, Kellogg, is also a resident of River Forest, which is a suburb of Chicago.

PEBBLE BEACH

The Unknown Monk Of Devendorf Plaza . . .

With folded hands he stands serene
And patiently surveys the scene:
A wooded park, a quiet walk
Where man may come to drowse or talk.
His quiet smile suggests a whim—
His name, unknown to all but him,
Father Serra? Does he say "no,"
This nameless padre? He must know
What name he had, what work he did;
But there among the trees, half-hid,
He keeps his name from other folk—
It is his little monkish joke!

—MARJORIE MACLEWAN

Editor's note: Many Carmelites in recent weeks have been wondering if the redwood statue in the northeast corner of Devendorf Plaza is a sculptural representation of Father Junipero Serra, founder of the California mission system including Carmel Mission Basilica.

Research in the files of the Pine Cone reveals that it is a statue of Father Serra and was placed in the park on April 11, 1940.

"The huge wood carving was started about two years ago by Remo Scardigli and completed by Roy Zoellen. It is cut from a huge log brought from Palo Colorado Canyon," the April 12, 1940 issue of this paper states.

Children Invited To Meet Author

Children and grown-up admirers of Harry Behn's books and poetry will have an opportunity to meet him in person on Monday, when Martha Bruggeman will have an open house from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Magic Fishbone. Mr. Behn, who is also an archeologist, is the author of, among other books, "The Faraway Lurs," a story of the stone age being overtaken by the bronze age in Denmark; "Omen of the Birds," an historical novel with an Etruscan background; and "The Painted Cave," based on an Indian legend. His latest book of poetry, "Cricket Songs," is a translation of Haiku.

Mr. Behn, who feels poetry is the natural expression of adults as well as children, will also speak on poetry at the parent discussion group at the Magic Fishbone on April 19 at 7:30 p.m. Earlier this week, Mr. Behn visited the Tularcitos, Palo Colorado and Captain Cooper Schools to speak to the students. He was accompanied on the tour by Mrs. Bruggeman, whom he met while lecturing on children's literature at a summer symposium at the University of California in Berkeley.

Mr. Behn and his wife will be in Carmel for two months, while he completes the writing of his newest work.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Big Sur Inn (Deetjen's) is now celebrating its 25th year of continuous operation. The inn, tucked in close to the foot of the rugged Santa Lucia Mountains, surrounded by a variety of coastal country trees, including many excellent redwood specimens, and on a property bisected by the rushing Castro Creek, stands today as a unique and interesting landmark along famed Highway One. It represents the combined artistic talents, the vision and the joyous determination of Mr. and Mrs. Helmuth Deetjen. For a quarter of a century guests and visitors have been enjoying the unhurried charm of the inn which is reminiscent in architecture, furnishings and atmosphere of Deetjen's native Norway.

Helmuth Deetjen came to Carmel in the early 1920's and he relates that on arrival, in the village, he was literally without funds. "I stopped in to see Perry Newberry, the then editor of The Pine Cone. I was a complete stranger to him but I told him my plight. And do you know, Perry Newberry was indeed a friend—he reached into his pocket and gave me all the money he had—$25."

Young Deetjen was so appreciative of this unusual kindness to him that he asked what he could do for Mr. Newberry in return. Newberry explained that he had a number of unpaid accounts, and perhaps he could help collect them. In telling of the experience, recently, Mr. Deetjen smiled and said, "You know I collected $3,000 in unpaid bills. I used no pressure, no harsh words, just went around and told people of the kind, generous, understanding Mr. Newberry and they all paid up."

Helmuth Deetjen and Helen Haight, the daughter of a prominent Southern California attorney and former district attorney of Los Angeles, met and were married in Carmel and shortly thereafter "went down the coast" to build their home. They worked tirelessly throughout many years, putting their ideas into form. They hauled heavy timbers, to build first, the "barn"—the upper floor of which was used for living and the lower floor as a workshop where soon remarkable masterpieces in wood began to appear. There were tables, chairs, beds, benches, cabinets, bowls, candlesticks, and all sorts of furniture and furnishings, all artistically designed and meticulously carved by Deetjen. Later the Hayloft, the Chalet, the Creek House, the Antique Shop and the Book Shop were built and furnished with the extraordinary wood pieces.

Over the years lovely china and glass, brass and copper, books, antiques, were collected and added to the adornment of the inn's interior.

Soon word went out of the unusual cuisine provided by Mrs. Deetjen and people from far and near, artists, writers, celebrities in many fields of endeavor came to enjoy the delicious food served in the graciously appointed dining room—the room that was formerly the workshop. Many stayed overnight, or for a week or a vacation period, occupying such quarters as the Franklin Room, so named because of the antique Franklin Stove, or the Van Gogh Room, where an original of the great artist's work hung, or the Little Room, the Fireplace Room, the Petite Cuisine, the Chateau Fiasco, or any one of the more than three dozen lodging areas.

The warmth, hospitality and friendliness of the inn has continued to draw countless guests to Big Sur Inn over the years. It has been said of Helen Haight Deetjen that she always gave everyone the benefit of doubt and when some one would come and had no funds or a place to stay, she would let them "sleep in the Goat House," a simply furnished lodging place.

Mrs. Deetjen died a few years ago, but Helmuth Deetjen continues to maintain the inn in the same informal, friendly, warm manner that has made it famous and contributed so largely to the success it enjoys today.

Since 1959, active management of Big Sur Inn has been under the direction of Mrs. Edith O'Ryan. Feature-travel writer John V. O'Ryan and Mrs. O'Ryan were frequent visitors at the inn over a period of many years. After

Lucretia Botsford

Funeral services were held at All Saints' Episcopal Church Monday morning for Mrs. Lucretia S. Botsford, who died a week ago after an illness of several months. She was a native of Marcus, Iowa, where she was born October 24, 1881.

Mrs. Botsford, a resident of Carmel for 12 years, was secretary for the Carmel Foundation for ten years. She was a longtime member and past national officer of the Women's Overseas Service League, San Francisco chapter, and served with the American Red Cross overseas during World War I. She was an active member of All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Surviving Mrs. Botsford are a brother, Heath Sebern of Boise, Idaho; a second cousin, Roy Sebern of San Carlos; and several nieces and nephews.

Services for Mrs. Botsford were followed by private inurnment in El Carmelo Cemetery Urn Garden in Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Botsford may do so through contributions to the Carmel Foundation, P.O. Box 3424, to All Saints' Church, or to the charity of their choice.

Mr. O'Ryan's death, Mrs. O'Ryan spent time alternately between her homes in the Eastern United States and in European travel. Shortly after a return from Europe aboard the ill-fated Italian liner, the Andrea Doria, she returned to Big Sur Inn and the coastal country she so enjoyed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The effect of our thinking on our health will be examined in this Sunday's Bible Lesson to be read at all Christian Science churches. The subject is "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

The Responsive Reading for the day begins with a verse from Isaiah: "Behold I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind."

Related passages will be presented from the Christian Science textbook, including these lines: "Instead of God sending sickness and death, He destroys them, and brings to light immortality . . . When Christ changes a belief of sin or of sickness into a better belief, then belief melts into spiritual understanding, and sin, disease, and death disappear" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, pp. 206, 442).

Today first of all we'd like to salute two young writers of the Monterey Peninsula. Deborah Street, 12, was moved by her muse over the weekend to compose these lines:

We can't complain;
We need this rain,
Though it gives us a pain
And we have to stay in.

And Patrick Grant, 7, got busy and wrote a whole newspaper, all by himself. It's called the Carmel Examiner, costs 4 cents and comes out every Monday. (Call 624-2564 for your subscription).

We were especially interested in his appraisal of our fire chief situation. "Carmel fire station said that they need a new fire chief," he reports, "We are glad that there are almost no fires." Another heartening note, Editor Grant doesn't believe in passing along the morbid news of this world. Under the heading, "Funeral Notes," he says, "Out. See Monterey Herald."

From friends of Elsie Oberfohren in Bolivia comes the funniest story yet about the fly problem. They thought they'd solved it by having their house completely screened but the maid just didn't get the point. She kept leaving the doors open. Finally they said they'd have to let her go if she didn't learn to keep the doors closed. "But senores," she answered, "I don't see what harm it does. They eat so little!"

In a delightful article in Medical World News, M. M. Geffen has this to say about our Community Hospital, or Carmel Hilton, as he calls it: "At the moment, a major problem plaguing the administration is the deer that insist on eating the hospital's flowers. Administrator Tonkin is hoping that a new alfalfa ground cover will entice them away from the geraniums. If not, he may have to go so far as to move their salt licks away from the building, sacrificing, as he says, the fauna for the flora."

You know those Pacific Inter-Mountain Express trucks that you see all over the Sierras with the big PIE on their sides? Well, years ago when Loli Wilcox first saw them, she couldn't get over it. "Where are all those pies going?" she cried, "Nobody could eat so many!"

Eavesdroppings—
"How long you folks plan to be here?"

"Oh, let's see. There are 50 gift shops in town and the wife has about 30 traveler's checks left. Approximately half a day."

Senior tourist: "Carmel is like Scottsdale; or I should say, it's like Scottsdale used to be."

By the way, need any beans cleaned? There are four firms in the yellow pages who'll do the job for you.

On one garage door of a duplex in Seaside is written "PRIVATE. KEEP OUT." On the adjacent door is scrawled "PRIVITE. GIT OFF." And tacked to the banister of the stairway between the two is this notice: "WHAT THEY MEAN IS PRIVATE. NO TRESPASSING. SIGNED YRS. TROOLY."

Pine Needles . . .

First Child

Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Silverberg (Donna Work) became parents on Sunday when their first child, Michael Andrew was born. He weighed eight pounds, ten ounces.

Michael's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Work Jr. of Pebble Beach. They plan to travel to New York this week to see their new grandchild. In June, the Silverbergs will return to the West Coast and Dr. Silverberg will become a resident physician at Stanford Hospital. Mrs. Silverberg is studying at Columbia University Law School.

BPWC Officers

Members of Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club enjoyed a potluck dinner Monday evening at the Pebble Beach home of Mrs. Edgar Viall. A business meeting followed. Officers for the coming year will be Mrs. Edgar Viall, president; Mrs. Malcolm J. Setzer, first vice president; Mrs. Beatrix Garrett, second vice president; Mrs. Shirley Turner, recording secretary; Mrs. James Kramer, corresponding secretary, and Litha Ljungquist, treasurer.

Mrs. Viall and Mrs. Setzer reported on the "Government in Action" conferences held in Sacramento March 7-8. Mrs. Viall and Mrs. Setzer will also attend the peninsula district conference April 24-25, and the state conference May 20-23.

The next meeting will be held May 4 at the home of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Thomsen in Pacific Grove.

Education Continentale

Miss Elizabeth von Zierer, originator and director of Education Continentale, will be in the Peninsula during the week following Easter to speak at some of the schools and to answer questions of parents who wish to avail themselves of her services. Miss Zierer offers a personal counseling service to help parents select the proper school for their child's study abroad and arrange for subsequent placement, also a chaperoned summer study tour, including two months' study in a boarding school or with a private family, plus a sightseeing trip.

Through her personal knowledge of schools in Switzerland and other European countries and her linguistic ability, Miss Zierer is able to suit the needs of the individual child to the character of the schools.

Education Continentale provides the opportunity for a child to spend a summer or winter abroad, learn a foreign language quickly, combine studies with recreation and travel, learn the customs and ideals of other students from many lands. In the winter program, continuation of United States high school studies can be offered under the direction of English-speaking teachers.

During the week after Easter, interested parents may phone Miss Zierer at 624-8056. She may also be reached at 5700 Oak Grove Avenue, Oakland 18.

New Project For Jennie Hill

Jennie-Keith Hill, now engaged in graduate anthropology work at Northwestern University, will spend the summer living with and studying the Navajo Indians, with emphasis on the Trader Navajo language. The field work will be accomplished in the company of other graduate linguistic students from Northwestern under the direction of their professor.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Hill, Jennie-Keith was valedictorian of her class at Carmel High School and an exchange student in Norway in 1959. While a student at Pomona, she was one of several students chosen for Operation Crossroads in Africa in 1962.

She returned to Chicago Sunday after a brief vacation here with her family.

Harrahs Enjoyed Opera Tour

To attend productions of the great opera companies in six different countries of Europe, including England, was the main purpose of a month's European tour just completed by Judge and Mrs. Eugene Harrah, who learned of the tour through the Metropolitan Opera Guild News.

The Harrahs flew to New York on March 9, attended the Met the next evening and boarded a plane for Zurich the following morning. From there they traveled to Paris, London, Milan, Vienna, Munich and Rome before returning to Zurich for their flight to the United States. They attended two operas in most of the cities, finding the contrast in performances interesting but equal in excellence. Sight-seeing and dining in recommended restaurants were not overlooked, and they report that although the weather was dreary and cold, they found the trip tremendously exhilarating.

Senator Fred Farr Guest Speaker

Senator Fred Farr, who has been pressing for a Salinas office of the State Industrial Accident Commission to take care of the whole Monterey Peninsula, will be the featured guest at a banquet tomorrow following the official opening of the new office. Thomas N. Saunders, chairman of the commission, members of the Monterey County Bar Association, labor officials and insurance executives will be in attendance at the luncheon ceremonies to be held at the Hyatt House in Salinas.

Views Of 32 Countries

On Saturday evening, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Coyne were shown pictures taken in 32 countries of Europe, Asia and the Middle East by Miss Rosabelle Hamann, foreign student advisor at Monterey Peninsula College. In her photographs, Miss Hamann's goal was to portray family life as she experienced it in the homes of foreign students of all economic and social categories during her travels while on sabbatical leave last year.

Ruthie Roamed To Reno

Taking advantage of a break between weekend performances of "Farewell, Farewell Eugene," Ruth McElroy spent Monday to Friday last week in Reno, where she visited the family of her son and daughter-in-law, George and Lucille McElroy. "Well," remarks Ruthie, "with eight children, they'll always have a fourth for bridge."

George, who grew up in Carmel, is now manager of the Pacific Inter-Mountain Express depot in Reno.

Holiday For Mrs. Gargiulo

After 23 years, Mrs. William Gargiulo had a wonderful reunion with old friends while she vacationed for six weeks at their home in Fort Myers, Florida. Her hosts were Mr. and Mrs. James Archer Holmes, whom she had known in New York and Connecticut. For Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Gargiulo it was a special time of "catching up" for the two had been in nurses' training together many years ago at Misericordia Hospital in New York City.

During her stay in the popular winter resort city, prolonged long beyond the intended two weeks, Mrs. Gargiulo and the Holmeses went to Jamaica for a week.

Girl Scouts Go Continental

Girls of the Monterey Bay Area Girl Scout Council will speak only French, German or Spanish for three days during the International Understanding Through Language Encampment to be held at the Santa Cruz Fairgrounds from Monday through Wednesday. At the same time, they will study the culture and customs of particular countries.

Carmel girls of Cadette Troop 2158 who will study Spanish are Lee Lowrie, Deborah Street, Taffy Thomas, Karen Gregg, Karen Austing and Debby D'Orazi. Mrs. Robert Updike and Mrs. Webster Street are among the unit leaders for the Spanish-speaking group. In Troop 2087, Sue Wood and Phyllis Thorngate will study German, and French is the choice of Sandra Albright.

Col. Thomas May

Colonel Thomas E. May (USA ret.), a resident of Carmel since 1943 and the father of a former Carmel city councilman, Thomas E. May Jr., died unexpectedly at his home on Monday evening.

Colonel May, who was born near Abilene, Kansas on March 5, 1888, had a successful business career in addition to his military service. A star athlete in his youth, he remained actively interested in the training of young men in athletics and physical fitness throughout his life.

He attended Willamette University and Oregon State College (now University), where he later served as director of athletics. A student military leader at Oregon State, Colonel May saw active duty as an infantry captain in World War I. After a period of private life in business, he returned to Army duty and for four years was stationed at Clemson College.

Colonel May spent seven years in Hawaii with the Army, most of that time as corps commandant of Kamehameha School. After several tours of duty on the mainland, he was for five years instructor of the Oregon National Guard, and subsequently was stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco with the 30th Infantry, where he became regimental executive. During World War II, Colonel May served with a service command in Washington, D.C. before his transfer to Fort Ord, where he established the training center in support of the Pacific Theater in 1943.

Following his retirement from the Army in 1948, Colonel May was an insurance agent for the New York Life Insurance Company. He was a member of the Scottish and York Rites as a Shriner and was associated with Hejas Lodge in South Carolina.

In addition to his son, Colonel May leaves his wife, Verna, a daughter, Mrs. Barbara May Johnson and four grandchildren, all of Carmel.

Funeral services with full military rites will be held for Colonel May tomorrow morning in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Colonel May do so through contributions to the Central Mission Trails Heart Association, Box 1329, Monterey.

NEW DIRECTOR AT WHITE OAKS THEATRE

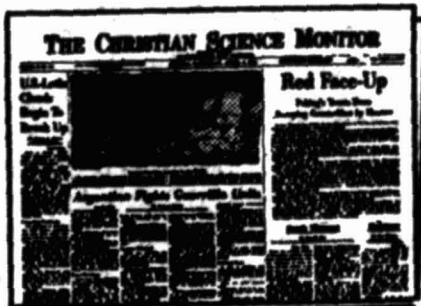

Tom Gruenwald, New York director, has been signed to a three-year contract as managing director for the White Oaks Theatre. His contract with the Carmel Valley theatre becomes effective May 1. He will direct a minimum of two shows a year, conduct a professional acting workshop and be responsible for the general welfare of the acting company.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Mr. Gruenwald received his master of arts degree at Columbia University. In New York Gruenwald had an extended association with the Phoenix Theatre and also directed productions for Equity Library Theatre and the newly formed American Place Theatre.

FIRE CALLS

A general alarm brought out 15 men and two trucks of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department at 11:38 a.m. yesterday when a fire was reported by the Spinning Wheel Motel at Monte Verde and Ocean. Damage was confined to a supply of towels which had been placed too near a water heater in a linen closet.

On Sunday at 5:36 p.m., 18 men of the department responded to a call from Sade's Restaurant, where soot had ignited in a chimney. No damage was reported.

ABOUT THE DRAMATIS PERSONAE
OF REAL ESTATE BY THE SEA

In order of their appearance:

RUTH CLAMPETT, our secret weapon

Our indispensable Secretary Supreme, treasury of knowledge about Carmel, coffee maker, binder of wounds, message taker, Mother Confessor, repository of information, tickler file, and all-around good secretary and good friend.

HELEN IRELAND, modified Hoosier

Helen says she came from a farm in Indiana, but we doubt if the Hoosier farmers could keep up with her for long. Her many years in the hotel business fit her admirably to her specialty of handling motels, but she brings the same friendly interest and competence to her handling of executive homes. Wife of Dean, mother of Deanna at Carmel High, top golfer, and star salesman of REBTS.

GUY STOHR, salt of the earth

Dependable, well-informed, meticulous, with many years of experience in real estate in this area. We couldn't do without Guy, because he always knows the answers. Especially fine in investments and business opportunities, he also knows every house in Carmel presently or in the past on the market. Husband of Thelma, father of a grown son.

FRANCES MAUER, our delight

Full of bounce and energy, devoted to people and dedicated to finding the exact right house for her clients, Fran is our specialist in the Del Monte Forest. Years of experience in furniture and decorating, too. Incidentally, a top-level golfer, wife of Joe, devoted to two grown boys, and favorite of Duffy (see below).

VIRGINIA BRADY, Unprejudiced Newcomer

She couldn't care less what you paid for your property back in 1920 or what you could have bought this or that house for in 1938. Concerned to obtain for you the best possible price on today's real estate market commensurate with your investment in your property, she brings over 20 years' experience in California real estate to her efforts in your behalf. Unbelievable that she has two grown boys! Happy to have her with us.

RICHARD SPENCER, our Organization Man

Southern gentleman (No. Carolina born) but a resident of California since the war, and just recently from Palo Alto where he dealt with real estate, stocks, bonds, Dick brings to us all his specialized knowledge and wide acquaintance in the investment and business field. Another top golfer, husband of Mary Ruth, father of Dick Jr. at USC and Beverly at Carmel High. Now planning a home in the Highlands, and specializing in carriage-trade homes in that area and in Pebble Beach. We are pleased to have Dick join us.

And DUFFY, the Christmas Dog who came to the office to visit and decided to stay on as official mascot. Helps out with desk work, meets everyone coming in, plays with Fran, familiar with the Wall Street Journal and other newspapers, often accompanying us to look at property. He is opinionated on the side of homes with flower gardens. For, says Duffy, man cannot live by bread alone, and neither can dogs. And that's the WHY of Carmel, says Duffy.

With pardonable pride,

I commend my associates to you, pleased that their listings, like themselves, are of the highest calibre, personable, and presented with the utmost integrity. In choosing one of our group to represent you, you may feel sure of old-fashioned, personal, and experienced attention to your real estate requirements in this enchanted Carmel area.

A PERSONALIZED PROPERTY

REFLECTING THE GOOD TASTE OF ITS OWNER, this fine residence represents special qualities that should appeal to a discerning purchaser. Located on a choice corner site and protected by a walled patio-garden, this home was planned to take full advantage of an impressive view of the ocean and hills. The spacious living room with its cathedral ceiling, paneled walls, fireplace, louvered TV and storage areas and seascape view opens to a partially covered deck; the separate diningroom features the same outlook. In addition to two large bedrooms and two tiled baths there is a beautifully designed and equipped kitchen.

On a separate level is a comfortable guest apartment which can serve as a caretaker's quarters or income unit. The large, dry basement provides more-than-ample storage area.

Immaculately maintained, this property makes a most favorable showing.

Carmelite Causes Postponement Of Sand Dune Sale

the land in which the city is interested.

The undeveloped part of the White property was designated as desirable greenbelt by the Carmel Planning Commission in 1963. Last week the city council met in special session to discuss the imminent sale of the dunes. Councilman Gunnar Norberg was the only councilman to oppose the interest of the city in the 31,000 square feet of dunes being communicated to any prospective buyer.

The White property is located west of San Antonio Street and east of the city-owned dunes at the foot of Ocean Avenue.

pass the Sunset Commission urgency ordinance will be obtained. The center of Mr. Norberg's storm about the Sunset report was the recommendation that a new Sunset Commission be established. He wanted the administration of a municipal cultural and community center to be the responsibility of the arts commission and read to the council a report he had prepared to this effect, also gave a verbal report on the administration of the center during the coming fiscal year.

Councilman Norberg's report dealt with a long range "do it ourselves" proposal for the development of a municipal cultural and community center. He gave verbal proposals for maintaining the school, as is, during the 1965-66 fiscal year.

He recommended that development of a "do it ourselves" center be accomplished "if it were thought desirable, and mutually acceptable," by creation of the position of city architect or perhaps center architect, and that this official be paid a suitable, nominal stipend to launch the project with work space provided on the Sunset property.

He indicated that "if a ready meeting of minds were achieved, a beginning could then be made on what, to me, would be a project of many years duration, and one which could proceed only as means—in time, effort and money—were to become available. Eventually, however a masterpiece could be wrought."

Mr. Norberg further recommended that Robert Stanton, who "has expressed a wish to help in the development of a cultural-community center here" be asked to present, at a joint meeting of the council and arts commission, "any proposal which he might have with regard to an initiation and implementation of the thesis presented in this report."

One of the main points of Mr. Norberg's thesis was that a cultural-community center, by the do-it-ourselves procedure he advocated, could be made possible "through private contributions of whatever kind" and "probably without onerous or inhibiting tax burdens."

His recommendations, given orally, for the Sunset property during the 1965-66 fiscal year were that most matters having to do with the Sunset property should be properly in the hands of the arts commission; that Bach Festival charges for Sunset be the same as last year; that the county be asked to contribute $3,000 to the city to cover use of the Sunset facility by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra; that the building inspector's office be moved from presently rented quarters to the Sunset School site; that the city clerk's office handle request forms for the use of Sunset after the arts commission had formulated a general use policy and this policy had been accepted by the council.

A report from the arts commission opposing formation of a Sunset Commission and recommending that the arts commission assume

VACATION DANCES AT YOUTH CENTER

Five special dances with live music will be held at the Carmel Youth Center during Easter vacation for members and out-of-town visitors alike. Adequate chaperonage for the expected increased attendance will be provided.

Bands signed up for the dances from 8-11 p.m. are The Church Keys, Saturday and Monday; The Morticians, Tuesday; The Modestics, Wednesday; and The Showmen, Thursday.

The Youth Center will be closed from Good Friday through Easter.

responsibility for the present and future of the cultural center was also considered by the council. Barbara Norberg, chairman of the arts commission, spoke in defence of this report.

A planning commission report favored establishment of the new commission as proposed in the Sunset Committee report, as did also, 24 letters received from the public. No letters were received opposing the report.

Following adoption of the report, Mayor Herbert Blanks formally dissolved the Sunset Committee and thanked each member, by name, for the work done since he appointed the advisory planning group last July.

The council then amended the committee's recommendation on membership of the seven-person Sunset Commission with Mr. Norberg voting against the number of electors of the city on the commission being increased from four to five.

Next action was the ineffective vote on the urgency ordinance establishing the commission.

The area plan storm immediately preceded the Sunset report bluster. Again Mr. Norberg opposed the rest of the council. He fought for delay and delivered a blast directed at the planning commission, an appointed body "inferior" to the council elected by the people. He objected to the commission's having urged the council to act immediately on the area plan. He advocated waiting until May 11 as the council had intended to do. Other councilmen heeded the commission's urging and adopted the plan.

Former Mayor Frank Putnam injected gusts into the area plan storm when he challenged the minutes of the March 3 council meeting. The public hearing on this date was not closed but continued, he contended. However, the minutes accepted by the council last night did not support Mr. Putnam's contention. Why he wished the public hearing continued therefore was not revealed.

HOLIDAY PATROL

With each succeeding year, Carmel has become increasingly peaceful during Easter week, according to the Carmel Police Department which anticipates no particular trouble this year but will, however, maintain adequate patrol at all times.

Former Carmelite Wins Fellowship

W. Gerald Robison Jr., a former resident of Carmel and graduate of Carmel High School, has been awarded a National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council postdoctoral research fellowship. He will do research work in cell biology; electron microscopy under Dr. Don Wayne Fawcett in the department of Anatomy at Harvard Medical School.

Following his graduation from Carmel High, where he won his block letter his first year on the track team, Gerry attended Monterey Peninsula College before enrolling at Brigham Young University. His education was interrupted for three years of missionary work in Argentina for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Gerry returned in 1957 to Brigham Young, where he received a bachelor's degree in zoology in 1958 and a master's degree in 1961. At present he is a postgraduate research geneticist at the University of California at Berkeley, working toward his Ph.D. in the field of genetics.

The industrious fellowship winner will be well remembered in Carmel Valley as well as Carmel by friends and former employers, for whom he worked part time during his school years here to earn money toward his education.

Gerry and his wife Lucia, a native of Argentina whom he met at Brigham Young University, now make their home, with their three children, in Berkeley. He is the son of Mrs. Irene Robison and grandson of Mrs. Nora Decker who reside in Corral de Tierra. Gerry has two brothers, Dan D. and Bruce A. Robison, who also attended Carmel High. Dan is a construction engineer for the Navy in Vallejo, and Bruce is a painting contractor on the Peninsula.

Alice G. Pickering

Word has been received of the death last Wednesday in Hollywood of Mrs. Alice G. Pickering, a former resident of Carmel and San Francisco.

Mrs. Pickering, a native of Waverly, Iowa, was the wife of the late William Pickering. In recent years she made her home in Hollywood with her daughter, Mrs. Betty Pickering Helverston, who was also a resident of Carmel for several years.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

Editor's Column . . .

Sunset Committee which recommended formation of a Sunset Commission to run and develop such a center.

Last night a threat to continuance of a healthy atmosphere for the development of the vision arose . . . and from Councilman Norberg and Barbara Norberg, chairman of the arts commission. Both wanted the arts commission to run the center, not a new body, the Sunset Commission.

However, the council favored establishing the new commission and will act upon the matter this afternoon.

So a split in the unanimous front which existed last year arose. If it is fostered it could topple everyone's dreams.

The arts commission, by the very nature of the purpose which caused its creation, the fostering of the arts in Carmel, should take a meaningful role in the creation of any cultural center.

Who better than an arts commission, in cooperation with a Sunset Commission, could better act as guardians of the vision; indicate to city councils what contemplated uses for the center would best preserve the heritage of the city; build the foundation for a great tomorrow?

This tomorrow can only be realized if no split occurs in the ranks of our residents. Unanimity of purpose for the creation of a cultural "masterpiece" is the greatest challenge ever presented to this city.

Let us meet this challenge and work together to make a glorious future for Carmel! M.L.

NEW FIRE DEPARTMENT OFFICERS

Newly elected officials of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department Club who will take office on May 6 are Lee B. McGuckin, chairman; Alec Gibson, vice-chairman; Merle Murphy, secretary; and Bob Updike, treasurer.
